Online RUL prediction of press frame monitoring

Short description
IT system attached to a forming press machine capable of calculating RUL of frame components using failure accumulation theory.

Innovativeness introduced compared to already existing Products/Services
Competition solutions for calculating RUL of the forming machines does not use real data but simulations therefore their predictions lack the reliability of the proposed solution.